

Axis Banking Dashboard

As a financial executive, you depend on essential information that resides in multiple systems throughout the enterprise.

Now, imagine having a dashboard that contains instant insight into all of the key metrics, trends and critical data you need to analyze, evaluate and monitor, all while keeping an eye on the bottom line.

Axis Group provides financial professionals with next-generation dashboards that are fast, flexible, and easy to use. Our dashboards can be deployed in days, and training takes minutes.

Axis Dashboards enable visualization that quickly draws attention to the things that matter, i.e., migration of asset quality, loan pipeline information, etc. You can also track and compare performance over time and against your peer group.

Benefit from "Alerts" as an early warning system to help drive resolution of exceptions to policy and enable managers to proactively review and resolve these exceptions to policy, all while providing a streamlined and consistent approach for gathering information and reporting.

Axis Dashboard solutions reduce reporting overhead and lower costs while driving consistency and reducing risk.

Finding Ways to Help Customers Improve Their Business Through Better Information

Dashboard Solutions

Banking Dashboard

Solution Brief

Axis Banking Dashboards incorporate industry best practices and have been designed by a team with over 25 years of banking industry experience. Combined with over 10 years of Business Intelligence knowledge and expertise, Axis Banking Dashboards are truly world class.

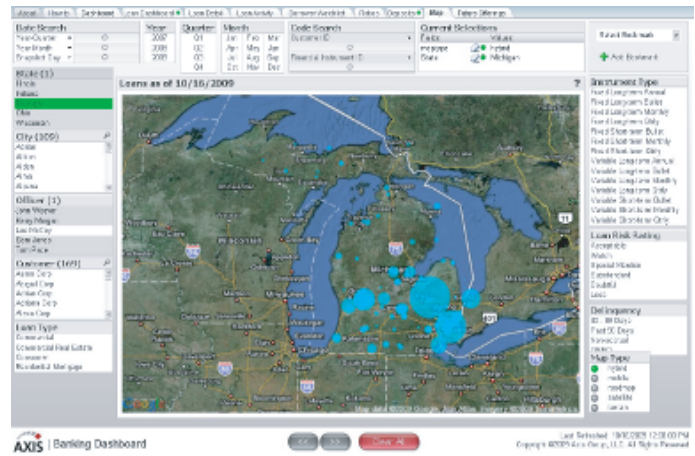

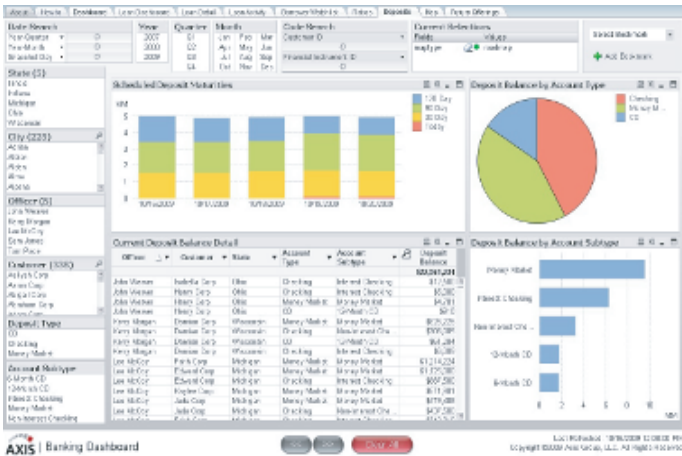

Our Dashboards provide management a significant improvement in the ability to access critical data housed in different enterprise applications and platforms. Our solutions provide visibility to key information across the enterprise landscape and deliver it in a form that is designed for quick analysis and decision-making; utilizing a fast and easy to use interface.

Axis Banking Dashboards are extremely flexible and can combine data from multiple source locations. This enables our Dashboards to evolve over time as analysis needs change. Our Dashboard framework also serves as a powerful data validation tool to improve data quality by driving the identification and correction of data at the source systems.

Our Dashboards are delivered through a web interface that provides direct visibility to the data stored in organizational enterprise applications; the presented information is refreshed according to a defined schedule.

Axis Banking Dashboards present information in a way that allows management to quickly visualize KPIs and other metrics, while identifying items or events requiring immediate action. Key information is aggregated and summarized for viewing at the enterprise, sector, or other level, and management has the capability to dynamically drill down and view the supporting detail information. Our Dashboards are designed to enable high-level analysis from multiple perspectives and are dynamic in nature allowing for the combination of multiple factors and dimensions to yield the desired views of information.

User Experience

A typical user can logon to the Dashboard via a web browser. The full Dashboard is available for viewing and analysis and the user will be able to perform the following activities:

- View KPIs and drill down to view detail
- View the data from multiple perspectives on separate Dashboard tabs, each designed to deliver key sets of information
- Choose, where enabled, different graphical views for the displayed information
- Export Dashboard images for presentation and other purposes
